Wilmington man stabbed to death

WILMINGTON - Joseph DiPrisco, 46, pleaded not guilty Monday morning in Woburn District Court on a charge of first-degree murder. He is accused of fatally stabbing a man in a North Wilmington neighborhood Saturday afternoon.

Paul DeFilippo, 48, was stabbed several times in the driveway of his residence at 31 High Street Saturday, allegedly after an argument with the suspect DiPrisco.

DiPrisco, a HVAC foreman working in Somerville, was ordered held without bail and will reappear in court December 16 for a probable cause hearing. Assistant District Attorney Joseph Gentile is assigned to the case.

The Crier spoke with DiPrisco's attorney, Jeff Karp. "From the information we have it's clearly a case of self-defense," said Karp, repeating his courtroom comments. "We fully expect as the evidence plays out in court a jury will agree."

Police were called to the High Street home at approximately 3 pm Saturday, said a statement released jointly from the Middlesex District Attorney's office and the Wilmington Police Chief Michael Begonis. When police arrived officers found DeFilippo in the driveway suffering from multiple stab wounds and lying in a pool of blood. Police first briefly questioned DiPrisco who, according to court documents, reportedly blurted out, "We need an ambulance, please don't let him die." DiPrisco was standing in the driveway talking on his cell phone and agitated when police arrived. DiPrisco apparently called 9-1-1 on his cell phone and reporting the incident to State Police in Framingham. State Police contacted Wilmington dispatch.

The responding officer called in support from Wilmington Fire Department for the victim and asked DiPrisco what happened. DiPrisco described a fight over a missing Red Sox blanket between the victim and

Caira to LaRivee: Time to leave

Cop involved in weapons lockdown to retire at end of the month

WILMINGTON - Town manager Michael Caira asked Officer Steven LaRivee, 51, to retire after weapons he owned were stolen by local kids last month. The theft led to a major lockdown at the Shawsheen Technical High School involved Billerica and Wilmington police and sparked six arrests, including two minors.

Caira asked the veteran officer for 25 years to resign due to the events of last month, calling it a "practical decision," that had the desired result: "Officer LaRivee is no longer a police officer for the town of

"In my judgment it did have a negative effect on the police department. And I think we have a very good police department and I think they have done a very good job in this investigation," Caira told the Crier. "I felt in the best interest of the department that Officer LaRivee should conclude his employment here."

Unlike many other towns that would have an officer in a similar situation out on paid administrative leave, LaRivee has been out of the office using

Extreme Makeover, Wilmington Style

Family benefits from big hearts of friends and neighbors

By JAYNE W. MILLER

WILMINGTON - As the saying goes, when a door closes, somewhere a window opens. For the Lydon family, the windows were replaced. Twenty-five of them in fact, along with siding, a roof, a septic system, and a deck. In fact, the Lydon family will even be able to move into an enormous addition built almost entirely with donated materials, labor, and the love of friends. This is Extreme Makeover, Wilmington Style.

After tearing three ligaments in his ankle last year and following the lengthy rehab process, Paul Lydon, 40, noticed a persistent weakness in his legs. His doctors shifted into high gear and after a battery of neurological tests he received his diagnosis. ALS.

Amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS), often referred to as "Lou Gehrig's Disease," is a progressive neurodegenerative disease that affects nerve cells in the brain and the spinal cord, according to the ALS Association. To those affected by ALS, it is a devastating diagnosis.

"It's just been such a crushing blow. I'm worried about the kids, my wife. It's hard to raise 4 young kids, now I'm getting to the point where I am not as helpful as I would like to be. My wife is such a strong and capable person, she's just been a rock through the whole thing," said Paul. "Were the roles reversed I would have crumbled under the pressure a long time ago."

Sitting in his neurologist's office with his wife, Alice, Paul says getting the news was "the low point of my life to date."

He spent the weekend telling family and friends, who responded with tears, stunned looks, and offers of help. They have not expressed the extent of his illness to their four children, Joseph, 7, Sean, 5, Liam, 3 1/2, and Molly who turns two next month.

Soon the fundraisers and benefits began. One group of friends practically hijacked a fundraising walk along the Charles River, raising $8,000 for the Lydon family. Another event combined Alice's large family and network of friends from her native Watertown and Paul's family and friends from Newton into a silent and live auction that raised over $52,000 in just a few hours. The item that garnered the highest purse was a 2.5-carat tennis bracelet, donated by Descartes Jewelers, the same place that Paul purchased an engagement ring and wedding band for Alice 13 years ago.

The Lydon's neighbors, Deb and Al Marzi, rallied the troops in Wilmington to build a substantial addition to their Nassau Avenue home and get it done fast, considering the rate of aggression.

"We knew that he would have readjust his house," said Deb Marzi. "He has a split gambrel and it's almost at the point that he'll not be able to go up to his bedroom on the third floor. We wanted to renovate his house for as little money as possible and take as little time as possible before the snow flies."

The crew broke ground in September, beginning with a new septic tank. EF Shea

It's Your Money by Joyce Brisbois

WHO OWNS YOUR LIFE INSURANCE?

The good thing about life insurance is that it is not subject to income tax. The not-so-good thing is that insurance proceeds going to heirs other than a spouse are subject to federal estate tax—unless the policy is owned by an irrevocable life insurance trust.

Such a trust can take over an existing policy or, better, buy a new one. (If using an existing policy, the trust must be in effect three years before the grantor dies.) The key, though, is that once the trust owns the policy, the grantor can't touch it—not the cash value, nor the right to change beneficiaries. That's how the insurance policy is considered out of his or her estate.

A life insurance trust works especially well to pay taxes on an estate tied up in real estate or family business. It can be useful, too, to split assets within a blended family. Be aware that setting up such a trust and administering it can be expensive. If the terms are complex, hire a professional.

Everyone wants to save on taxes—and we know how at:

Cop involved in weapons lockdown to retire at end of the month

accrued vacation time during the course of the investigation. He is scheduled to retire November 30 though he will not return to work, continuing to use vacation time.

"He's not coming back. Obviously it's a significant step to have taken, I think it demonstrated the seriousness of what took place."

By retiring LaRivee will be able to keep his pension. Though, should he face serious criminal charges his pension will be in jeopardy. Retiring so early will cost him thousands of dollars in his pension. He will no longer be licensed to carry a gun.

Selectman Michael McCoy expressed disappointment over the retirement.

"Given the seriousness of the issues, this was really bad, poor judgment," said McCoy of LaRivee's storage of weapons. "I'm sure this officer has given many good years of service to this town. We're lucky that these kids did cooperate with police to find the guns and ammunition. Once again, what if firefighters responded to a fire with live ammunition in the building or the danger a police officer doing a routine traffic check would face if one of those weapons got into the hands of gangbangers?"

McCoy does not suggest that LaRivee should have been terminated, a move that might not have withstood the scrutiny of a labor review board.

"We should have waited until the process had taken place, received the results of the investigation and made the determination at that time," said McCoy. "It's premature to make the decision at this time."

McCoy would not speculate on any other course of action.

At least eleven youths reportedly were aware of an uninhabited house on Woburn Street that was filled with firearms and other weapons, including a grenade, and allegedly entered the property and removed a variety of items. As word leaked out from the circle of young men about the weapons cache police began an investigation and moved swiftly to identify the kids involved, secure the safety of all the students, faculty and staff at the Shawsheen Tech, and recover all the weapons.

Caira praised Wilmington Police for their thorough and rapid response to the investigation into stolen guns from LaRivee's rented Woburn Street house.

"Their priorities were in the right place, first and foremost to make sure everyone was protected and secondarily to account for the weapons. I think they did a good job under some extraordinary circumstances," said Caira.

Four suspects were arrested, classified as adults and arraigned in Woburn District Court two weeks ago. They remain on 24-hour detainment with electronic monitoring ankle bracelets at their homes pending a pre-trial hearing in January. Two others arrested are juveniles and their cases are not public, but being handled through Lowell District Court.

Caira says that Wilmington Police have nearly completed their investigation. Jessica Venezia, spokesperson for the Middlesex District Attorney's Office, confirmed that an investigation is still ongoing.

Letters to the editor

To the voters of Tewksbury and Wilmington

Dear Voters of Tewksbury and Wilmington,
I want to thank the voters of Tewksbury and Wilmington for giving me the top vote in those precincts in Tewksbury and Wilmington which comprise my district.
I have topped the ticket because of the support you have consistently given to my candidacy.

I will continue to work hard on your behalf in the new session. To those of you who campaigned for me during the election, thank you for always being there for me.
Sincerely,
Representative Jim Miceli
19th Middlesex District
Tewksbury and Wilmington

A grateful Tewksbury Food Pantry

Dear Editor:
As we all begin to focus on the holiday season, the directors of the Tewksbury Community Pantry want to thank the Tewksbury community for its tremendous support in 2008. Despite a struggling economy and increasing use of the pantry, we are proud that our pantry has never turned away one of our fellow residents in need away for lack of resources. That is a true reflection of the character of our entire community. Tewksbury is blessed to have such a generous community. Thanks to many businesses, town employees, civic organizations, youth & sports groups, churches, Tewksbury families, and our public school students, the pantry continues to meet the needs of a growing population among us.
Without the generosity of our entire community, the pantry could not meet its obligations. Each year, the pantry distributes approximately $130,000 in food to Tewksbury residents in need of assistance. Approximately 90% of that amount is donated by those noted above in the form of canned or boxed non-perishable foods through various efforts inspired in many unique ways. Please be assured that your efforts and donations are much appreciated by those Tewksbury residents in need. Your efforts are a shining example of what makes Tewksbury a community to be proud of.

In addition to food donations, the pantry benefits repeatedly from the generosity of cash donations from many sources. There are no paid employees at the pantry, so every dollar goes to serve our community. In 2008, the pantry experienced a rise in cash donations made in memory of deceased relatives and loved ones. This unique and thoughtful approach to addressing the loss of a loved one serves the dual purpose of assisting another directly in our midst. We wish to thank all of those families that kept the pantry in mind during their time of grief. It was and is an extremely thoughtful gesture.
As we enter the holiday season, the pantry will once again provide residents in need with a Thanksgiving meal and will assist them through the Christmas season. In the spirit of the holidays, we want to thank our community for all of your support and wish you all a happy and healthy holiday season. On behalf of the pantry board of directors, volunteers, and those residents we serve, thank you to the Tewksbury community for all you do. We wish you all the best in 2009!
On Behalf of the Board of Directors,
Todd Johnson

Cashell family needs your support

The members of the West Side Social Club in Wakefield have initiated a relief fund to help aid the financial burden unexpectedly fallen upon Mark and Erica Cashell and their family of Tewksbury. The Cashell's youngest of two daughters, Ashley, recently was diagnosed with Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia (ALL). Ashley is a precious three-year-old, whose treatment has already begun at Children's Hospital in Boston. She is expected to receive chemotherapy over the next 5-6 weeks, as well as other related treatments for the next two years. Ashley's doctors say her prognosis looks good. ALL has an 80-90% cure rate in young children. What happens when someone is stricken with ALL, blood cells that are produced in the bone marrow, which are called lymphocytes, are defective. Once defective, they are known as lymphoblasts. These defective cells do not help fight infection and crowd out the nor-

Laura Pickett and her husband Kevin have lived in Wilmington for the last 19 years, and have raised their five children here. Laura is a stay-at-home mom who has operated a part-time day care center in her home for the last seven years. She loves to cook and read recipes, and has offered us some of her favorites.

Wedding Chicken

This is the recipe Laura made the first time she and Kevin had her parents and in-laws over for supper after their marriage.
6 boneless chicken breasts

1 pint sour cream
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 clove garlic, minced
Mix the sour cream, lemon juice, and garlic. Pour over chicken and marinate for 24 hours. Dredge chicken in bread crumbs and place on a cookie sheet. Melt ½ stick of butter and pour it over the chicken. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes.

Sausage Soup

Laura makes this soup every Halloween, when all her family visits. The Dads take the kids out trick-or-treating, and the Moms stay home and eat soup. (They do save some for the Dads!) This hearty soup is good throughout Fall and Winter, and is great served with a loaf of French bread.

2 packages Italian Sausage (about 12 sausages)
1 small onion, diced
1 pound mozzarella cheese
14 cups College Inn chicken broth
1 large can Kitchen Ready Tomatoes
1 package fresh spinach (baby spinach works well too)
1 cup rice
Break up sausage removed from its casing and brown with onion. Drain well and add chicken broth. Bring to a simmer. Add tomatoes and rice. Cook 15 - 20 minutes. Add spinach and cook until spinach is wilted. When ready to serve, add cheese to top of each bowl.

Taco Dip

1 pound lean hamburger
1 package taco seasoning
½ cup water
½ cup beer
1 six ounce can tomato paste
1 cup grated cheddar cheese.
Brown beef and break into bits. Drain well. Add taco seasoning, then stir in water, beer, and tomato paste. Cover and simmer ten minutes. Pour into an oven proof dish, sprinkle with cheese, and heat in 350 degree oven for ten minutes. Serve with nacho chips.

A Leaf Blower's Lament

I look out over the barren treescape, so many leaves, so little time. I open the garage door and my eyes survey the arsenal that years of living in New England, battling this post foliage menace, has forced me to collect. It's hard to believe the beauty goes to beast in so short a time.
I spy the splintered old bamboo rake; this stalwart soldier will always be ready, the plastic imitations just can't handle the taller grass. The mulch mower looks eager and menacing, but its too late for this guy unless you want to mow 30 or 40 times till the leaf dust is a translucent choking veil that you can taste and feel as well as see. The old rear bagger would need to be emptied every pass with this clean up chore.
Ah there it is! rested by a years worth of inactivity. It props itself up for this once (or thrice) a year chore. I reunite the sections of this seemingly benign beast and plug it in (how green of me!) The first 180 mph gusts of this animal send mulch and blue-stone flying like dust. Too bad I'm not trying to relocate that! A few minutes of re-orientation with the "beast" is required since the only thing I've used over the past year that comes close to it is my wife's hair dryer. Tripping over 100' to 200' of Edison's tether, I attempt to herd the unruly "doggies" in the same general direction. Fighting every gust of "Mother Nature," I'm reminded of who is really the boss. As I wave my blustery wand around like some demented Darth Vader, leaves fly everywhere, or at least somewhere they weren't. (I think that's the object?) Neighbors peek out from behind the curtains and bushes, making sure I don't drive my herd on to their forty. Small children and animals (including my own) hide in fear of the sound of this hand held hurricane, or maybe in fear of its tenuous tamer.

As the sun begins to set, my wife cleans up the whole mess with the old bamboo while I finish vacuuming (gotta use all the options!!) up what mulch is left, along with a few remaining leaves. "Glad we got this baby, aye hon?" "What about those leaves over there?" she says pointing to a significant scattering. "Aw hon, now you can't get em all," I reply as I stuff my windy partner (the machine) back into the box.
And in the dusk light, the neighbors sigh
As my electric meter stops spinning like a windmill on high
And you have to search hard in the low light
To see what I missed during my fight
The oak leaves still on the trees
Seem to tease, As they rustle with every breeze
They'll make sure I'll repeat
This blustery futile feat
For until the ground turns white
We will continue our annual plight
Its how late fall weekends will be spent
We, the tireless leaf blowers, lament.

Lament not nor mourn, as old as it is, Thanksgiving lives on Thanksgiving 1830s style at Old Sturbridge Village

STURBRIDGE - Thanksgiving festivities today may be known best for cranberries, turkey and pumpkin pie, but in the 1830s the menu often included cranberries, turnips and wedding cake, as early New England weddings were often held at Thanksgiving, when families gathered together after the hard work of harvest was done. That's why Old Sturbridge Village is adding a period wedding celebration to its Thanksgiving weekend activities on Sat. Nov.29.

On Thanksgiving Day Thursday Nov. 27 through Sunday, Nov. 30, OSV interpreters and staff members will demonstrate traditional hearth side cooking, and will present a program on Native American foods, a Thanksgiving service with organ music in the Meetinghouse, and will demonstrate an early sit-down Thanksgiving dinner and after-dinner musket target shooting. For times and details: www.osv.org; 800-733-1830.

historians, 19th century diners ate with their knives, the favorite dish was Marlboro Pudding, an apple-custard pie, and turkey was often not even on the menu. Turkeys were much smaller and more expensive then, so cooking a turkey was a lot of work for not much meat.
At the museum Parsonage, turkey will be hearth roasted suspended on skewers and string that rotate the meat before the fire. In the Village's Freeman Farm House, the turkey will be roasted in a "tin kitchen." Other menu items will include turnip sauce (boiled turnips mashed with potatoes), stuffing, rolls and a variety of pies: apple, pumpkin, cranberry, mincemeat and Marlboro Pudding - a favorite apple-custard pie of the day.
Cranberries have a long history in New England. One of three fruits native to North America, the cranberry was used by Native Americans to make pemmican - a survival food made of mashed cranberries mixed with deer meat. They also used cranberries in poultices to draw poison from wounds.

Poetry Corner

The Death of Thanksgiving

by Julia Doten

'Twas eight weeks before Christmas, and in every store, decorations were hung on each window and door. They sparkled, they glittered, they twinkled with glee, In a manner consumers would be sure to see. Mamma in last year's coat, while I tagged along, Wondering "why so early?" when we heard the carol songs. Sales will be low; Retailers predicted with gloom. And so it began: Thanksgiving's doom.

What happened to harvest, the month where we reap, and give praise and thanks, for what we can keep. Where is the cornucopia, filled to the brim? Reminders that what we have, are given by Him. The Pilgrims no longer make an appearance, their black hats and buckled shoes, are marked "clearance." The horn of plenty, turkey, and basket of bread, have been replaced by other visions in our head.

Daily we're threatened with economic ruin, If we don't start spending more, and soon! "Now, Visa! now, Discover! now, Master Card too! On, Debit! on Credit! borrow 'til you're blue! To the top of the limit! don't deny the call! Throw cash away, cash away, once and for all! Buy that special present, better be quick! Our Economy has morphed into St. Nick. Prices are as low as they can go, that is 'til December 26th, don't you know!

To the retail giants who don't count what they've got, But instead lament over what they have not, I ask that you give us time to enjoy each season, Harvest is here for a darn good reason. When we can reflect of the bounty we've earned, We can be more giving, through lessons we've learned. So I ask that you stop killing Thanksgiving, As though Christmas is the only way to make your living.

And when our bountiful table has been laid to rest, We can then turn our minds to the season we love best. As we left the store with our purchase of a mop, A Halloween decoration lay on the floor of the shop. His sad hollow eyes seemed to look up and say, "Beware! For next year I may not have a day." We jumped in our car thinking as we drove out of sight, "We're not giving up Thanksgiving without a fair fight."

Re Sonny's: There will not be more delivery trucks with the granting of a liquor license? A total new product added to their inventory and that doesn't mean more trucks delivering to the site? ABCC should not be allowed to make this choice for Wilmington. It's a bad site for this. Leave the corner alone. Stick with your vote, Board of Selectmen.

Mailing tips for military packages, cards and letters

Large Priority Mail flat price box discount proves popular for APO/FPO shipping

WASHINGTON, DC - As Americans pay tribute to those who have served their country this week, the U.S. Postal Service is asking friends and families to remember mailing dates and shipping options for sending packages, cards and letters to military members across the nation — or across the globe — for the upcoming holidays.

The Postal Service provides three different size and shape options at convenient flat-rate pricing, including the Large Priority Mail Flat Rate Box that provides a $2 discount for APO/FPO destinations.

At nearly 800 cubic inches and measuring 12" x 12" x 5", the box is 50 percent larger than other USPS flat-rate boxes. The price to ship anything that fits in the box is just $10.95 to an APO/FPO destination, regardless of how much it weighs, up to 70 lbs. The price to other U.S. addresses is just $12.95.

The Postal Service has shipped nearly 3 million Large Priority Mail Flat Rate Box between March and August 2008, including almost half a million ordered for military APO/FPO addresses. The new box is shipping an average of almost 476,000 per month.

"Flat-rate shipping is the best value in the marketplace," said Gary Reblin, vice president of Expedited Shipping. "Our new, bigger box gives customers even more room to send items across the country, with one flat price, regardless of how much they weigh or how far they're going."

Prices for Priority Mail flat-rate shipping are:

- $12.95 for domestic shipping
- $10.95 for APO/FPO addresses
- $29.95 for international shipping to Canada and Mexico (20-pound weight limit)
- $49.50 for international shipping to other countries

The current flat-rate boxes, introduced in November 2004, give customers a single, predetermined rate regardless of the weight or delivery zone. Flat Rate Priority Mail boxes usage (excluding the new large box) grew 36 percent from 2007 to 2008. Total shipped since launched as a test product in 2004 is more than 54 million. The new, larger box extends the Postal Service's line of successful flat-rate offerings, providing more choices for small businesses and consumers.

Customers can order them at usps.com/supplies, by calling 800-610-8734, or by picking them up in Post Offices nationwide.

Some of the new boxes are co-branded with the logo of America Supports You, a Department of Defense program that connects citizens offering support to the military and their families.

All Postal Service Priority and Express Mail packages and envelopes are environmentally friendly, exceeding the highest standards for recyclability.

To ensure delivery of holiday cards and packages by Dec. 25 to military APO/FPO addresses overseas, the Postal Service recommends that mail for service members be entered no later than the mailing dates listed below.

Mail addressed to military post offices overseas is subject to certain conditions or restrictions regarding content, preparation and handling. APO/FPO addresses generally require customs forms. To see a table of active APO and FPO addresses and mailing restrictions by individual APO/FPO ZIP Codes, go to pe.usps.com and click "Postal Bulletins" in the left column. Select the current issue and look for the heading "Overseas Military Mail."

An independent federal agency, the U.S. Postal Service is the only delivery service that reaches every address in the nation, 146 million homes and businesses, six days a week. It has 37,000 retail locations and relies on the sale of postage, products and services, not tax dollars, to pay for operating expenses. The Postal Service has annual revenue of $75 billion and delivers nearly half the world's mail.

OBITUARIES

Marie Bernard

Worked for Raytheon Service Company

In Our Hearts Forever

Marie Bernard a long time resident of Wilmington passed away on Friday, October 31, 2008. Marie was born on June 27, 1931. She was 77 years old.

Marie was best known to her family as their loving devoted mother and now their guardian angel.

Marie was born and raised in Adamsville, New Brunswick, Canada, dear daughter of the late Belonie and Zellie (Arsenault) Bernard. She was one of nine siblings. Her home in Adamsville was consistently near and dear to her heart. She married in 1953, and later moved to Massachusetts. She settled in Wilmington in October 1959 where she raised her six children.

Marie was a communicant of St. Dorothy's in the earlier years, and also in the latter years with St. Agnes of Reading and St. Thomas of Wilmington. Her love for the church was heartfelt. Even through her days of illness she found peace through televised Mass.

In the earlier years Marie enjoyed her many weekend retreats with St. Agnes.

Marie worked for Raytheon Service Company in Burlington until her retirement in 1995. After her retirement she enjoyed her annual trips to Aruba with her friends as well as trips to Hawaii, Alaska, Germany, Austria, Italy, Branson, MO, and Disney World in Florida.

More importantly than her worldly travels, were her annual trips to her home town in Adamsville which she enjoyed sharing with all of her children, grandchildren and her family members. Marie also had a compassion to dance. She enjoyed her family gatherings throughout the holidays, birthday celebrations, and just fun get-togethers with her family and friends. Marie found comfort in all those who surrounded her with their presence.

Marie was passionately dedicated to her family. She was the link between two great portions of the family, and made it her mission to keep everyone connected. She was wise, kind, and a great listener. She was always ready to offer heartfelt advice, and seemed to know the right thing to say at all times. She never hesitated to welcome all who entered her home and life with open arms, and she treated them as one of her own.

Marie was a woman who selflessly gave to all who were blessed with her presence. May she rest with the assurance that so many lives have been directly influenced by her love and compassion throughout the years.

Marie is survived by her son John Bernard of Maine and wife Sharon, daughter Janice Traynor and husband James, daughter Susan Magner of Tewksbury, son Daniel Bernard of Wilmington and wife Claudia, daughter Lisa Coolbaugh of Pennsylvania and husband Thomas, daughter Cheryl Rivers of Maine and husband John. Her grandchildren Katie, Joshua, Jonathan, Christopher, Kyle, Giselle, Jacob, Natalia, Michael, Grant, Dylan, Jessica, Joshua, Jacqueline, Amanda, Robert and her great grandson, Michael. She was also the beloved sister of her brother Frank Poirier (deceased), and sister in law Yvonne, sister Yvonne Bernard (deceased), sister Edna Cormier of Canada and brother in law Eugene, brother Al Bernard of Florida and wife Audrey, brother Albert Bernard (deceased) and sister in law Della (deceased), sister Rita Bastarache of Canada and brother in law Leo, brother Robert Bernard of Canada and wife Margaret, sister Louise Roy of Canada and brother in law Clifford.

Her Funeral was held from the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Tuesday, November 4th at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Funeral Mass in St. Thomas Church at 10:00 a.m. Interment took place in Wildwood Cemetery. Memorial donations in Marie's name made to the Lupus Foundation, 425 Watertown St., Newton, MA 02458.

Harry F. Clinton

Worked at Woods Hole Oceanographic Inst.; 89

WILMINGTON - Harry F. Clinton, age 89, a seaman aboard the R/V Knorr during the rediscovery of the Titanic, died peacefully November 13, 2008, at Wingate in Andover, after a long period of declining health.

He was born in Woburn, June 19, 1919, a son of the late Thomas and Josephine (Strike) Clinton, and was raised in Woburn. He had lived in Wilmington for over thirty years.

Harry began working at Woods Hole in 1964 as a fireman aboard the R/V Atlantis II under Captain John Pike, and became an oiler in 1975. He transferred to the R/V Knorr in 1978 as an oiler under Captain Emerson Hiller. He retired in 1992.

Captain AD Coburn noted that Harry "would work in the engine room in a boiler suit or work clothes, but when he went ashore in port he dressed in a suit! He was long involved with what he called the "Sweet Science" of boxing once proclaiming he fought legendary boxing legend Luis Firpo. If that was the case, it was a heck of a feat!"

Prior to his employment at WHOI he was a truck driver and a construction foreman. He also served in the U.S. Navy.

"When Tewksbury Was Famous" at the Public Library

TEWKSBURY - Professor David Wagner will discuss his new book "Ordinary People: In and Out of Poverty in the Gilded Age" on Saturday December 6th from 2:00-3:00 PM at the Tewksbury Public Library. This book is based on the controversial history of the Tewksbury Hospital when it was the Massachusetts State Almshouse, the largest almshouse in New England and one of the three largest in the nation. Dr. Wagner will discuss the treatment of poor in America, the reputation and history of Tewksbury, and recollections of Annie Sullivan. He will also have examples of "inmates" that he will pass out.

Paperback copies of his book will be available for sale and signing, following the talk.

Dr. Wagner is the MSW Coordinator at the School of Social Work at the University of Southern Maine. A Professor of Social Work and Sociology, he holds degrees from Columbia University, the University of Massachusetts, and the City University of New York. He is the author of six books including "Checkerboard Square," which won the 1993 C. Wright Mills award, "What's Love Got to Do With It? A Critical Look at American Charity," and "The Poorhouse: America's Forgotten Institution." His current book project, "The Irish Pauper and Boston Brahmin" is also based in part on Tewksbury as it is the story of Annie Sullivan, the famous "miracle worker" who was an inmate at Tewksbury and her relationship with Franklin Benjamin Sanborn, the abolitionist, transcendentalist, and charity official who got her released from Tewksbury.

For more information, please call Freyja Sanger at the Library at (978) 640-4490 ext. 207, or visit us online at www.tewksburypl.org. All of our programs are free and open to the public.

And don't forget this winter tradition: the library's semi-annual "Food for Fines" drive.

Beginning on November 10th and continuing through December 26th the Tewksbury Library will waive your overdue fines when you make a food donation to the Tewksbury Community Pantry. Just remember to bring your food donation to the front desk before you place it in the collection bin!

We're starting this effort a little early this year to help the pantry stock up before the holiday season. Please help us help your hungry neighbors! A list of need items is available at the pantry website: <http://www.tewksburypantry.org>

But . . . What do teens think?

Children's Survey Results

Thanks to all parents who completed the Parent Survey on Library Services for Children. There were 133 surveys completed from October 13 to October 24. The overall results were very positive in terms of services, collections and the overall appearance of the children's room. Some of the suggestions, such as offering more puzzles and a collection of "grab and go pre-selected books," will be incorporated into the library's action plan for next year. There were many nice comments about the services and the staff. Among the comments was the following: "A gentleman told me he purchased a home in Wilmington because of the services offered by the Children's Department."

Winchester Hospital named No. 1 place to work by the Boston Globe

WINCHESTER - Winchester Hospital has been named No. 1 on the debut Globe 100's Top Places to Work '08. The report, published in the Sunday Boston Globe on Nov. 9, is based on surveys from 70,000 employees at about 300 private, public and nonprofit organizations in Massachusetts. It recognizes the most progressive companies in the state based on employee opinions about company leadership, compensation and training, diversity and inclusion, career development, family-friendly flexibility and values and ethics.

"The highlight of my day is when I receive letters from patients that compliment us on the compassionate, high-quality, personal care they have received from us," said Dale M. Lodge, president and chief executive officer of Winchester Hospital. "These letters never mention our high-tech equipment or our beautiful facilities. It's all about our staff. I am proud that our staff members feel that they work in an environment that allows them to excel at their chosen professions. It's good for them and it's good for our patients."

This is the second time in less than six months that Winchester Hospital has received this kind of designation. In June, the Boston Business Journal named the hospital as the No. 1 Best Place to Work in Massachusetts because of its excellence in employee satisfaction, working conditions and company culture. It was the sixth year in a row that Winchester Hospital was named to Boston Business Journal's list.

"All the companies included in the Globe 100's Top Places to Work deserve a great deal of recognition," said Steve Ainsley, publisher of the Boston Globe. "It's clear that they value their employees and make it a priority to create a positive workplace."

To view the Globe 100's Top

Places to Work in its entirety, visit www.boston.com/business.

CUB SCOUT PACK 361 "DOING THEIR BEST"

Pack 361 Cub Scouts seen here are packing gift bags. The gift bags will be heading overseas to the troops. The bags could land most anywhere a US Soldier is based. This is the fifth year that the Cub Scouts of Pack 361 have packaged Christmas gifts for our troops. The items were purchased with the proceeds from the lemonade that the Scouts sell at the Fourth of July Celebration. Pictured in the background (right side) is Major Jeff Johnston a former den leader of Pack 361 and currently committee member of Boy Scout Troop 56. Major Johnston recently returned from a six month tour of duty in Iraq. It is great to have him home safe and sound. Pack 361 is sponsored by the Wilmington Methodist Church. It is never too late to join Cub Scouts. For more information contact the church office at 978-658-4519. Picture taken by pack photographer Dana Burnham.

Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute offers late fall Yoga Classes

WOBURN — Winchester Hospital's Community Health Institute offers yoga classes for all ages and levels of experience. Yoga combines flow of movement with coordination of breathing. This process calms and focuses the mind, stretches and strengthens the body, positively affects energy, and manages stress.

Yoga on Tuesday Night is a moderate level class for those with yoga experience. The integration of breath and movement, awareness and alignment, and stability and flexibility through thoughtful sequencing and moderate pacing keep the body gracefully engaged and stimulates mental focus. The class ends with meditation and relaxation. The 10-week session runs from 6 to 7:15 PM from November 18 through February 3, 2009 (no class on December 23 or December 30). The cost is $150.

Yoga for Healing/Recovery is a gentle-level class designed to reduce mind/body tension, lessen pain, and increase range of motion. All levels are welcome, although this class is particularly beneficial for those recovering from injury or cancer, suffering from general discomfort, or in need of stress reduction. The 10-week session runs on Tuesdays, 4 to 5 PM, from November 18 through February 3, 2009 (no class on December 23 or December 30). The cost is $150.

Pre-natal Yoga prepares a woman's body for childbirth with movement in gentle to moderate postures, or asanas, that stretch, strengthen, and tone muscles. Breathing techniques and meditation are introduced to help women connect with their inner self and center of intuition. The 10-week session runs on Tuesdays, 7:30 to 8:30 PM, from November 18 through February 3, 2009 (no class on December 23 or December 30). The cost is $150.

All three of these yoga classes are held in the first floor Keating Conference Room at Baldwin Park I, 12 Alfred St. in Woburn.

In addition, a Friday Yoga class will help slow the mind and body in preparation for a relaxing weekend. The 10-week session runs from 4 to 5:15 PM and will begin in January. This class will be held in Winchester Hospital's Andrews Conference Center. The cost is $150.

Wilmington man stabbed

DiPrisco's girlfriend, Jennifer Murphy. DiPrisco also allegedly admitted to the officer at the scene and then again later at the police department that he stabbed the victim.

Police turned DeFilippo over, saw his chest covered in blood, and began administering life support. When EMTs arrived DeFilippo was transported by ambulance to Lahey Clinic where he was later pronounced dead.

Police arrested DiPrisco at the scene. Both the defendant and the victim lived at the house and were known to each other, said the D.A.'s press release. Court documents show that Helen "Ann" Bedard of North Street owns the house. Bedard's mother had formerly lived in the home but passed away early this year. Bedard allowed DeFilippo, whom she'd known since he was young, to live in the home rent-free for the past several months. DeFilippo had an arrangement where DiPrisco and Murphy lived in the upstairs of the house for $125 per week. Bedard told police that she had recently informed the men that she intended to sell the property and was shutting the water off so they needed to move out Monday.

Several news reports characterize the High Street neighborhood as quiet, but with an active halfway house, frequent nighttime car breaks, and flanked by I93, it's anything but. The neighborhood is part of Wilmington's historic district, which includes this house at 31 High Street.

The fight between Murphy and DeFilippo allegedly began over a missing Red Sox blanket. When DiPrisco and Murphy left the house and were getting into their vehicle, DeFilippo followed them out of the house, demanding another week's rent, and began punching DiPrisco repeatedly. DiPrisco then brought out the knife, a clip released jack knife with a 2 1/2 to 3-inch blade.

Police documents indicate police noted that DiPrisco had some swelling and an abrasion around his eyes.

Wilmington Police Detective Lieutenant Christopher Neville told the Crier that he is "not at liberty to discuss aspects of the case," deferring to the District Attorney's office.

The statement added, "These charges are allegations, and the defendant is presumed innocent until proven guilty."

Extreme Makeover, Wilmington Style

donated the concrete and inside two weeks Murray Brothers poured the foundation, and Columbia Construction had the slab and framing done all the way to the roof.

In fact, the entire construction operation has been coordinated by Bob Troy, a local contractor that uses his gifts wisely. The Marzi's know Troy through their church as they travel to Katrina ravaged communities annually to work on rebuilding projects. Troy worked with an architect friend of Alice's brother who donated his time and talent for the Lydon home.

Once construction began donations came out of the woodwork. Harvey Windows donated 10 windows and sold the rest at cost. Siding, lumber, insulation, and more were donated or sold at low cost by like a bunch of ants on a crumb working on this place," said Paul, describing the scene of dozens of people working all over the house all at once. Troy worked hard to manage the resources and the needs to maximize the volunteers. "These are all people with their own businesses and families. I have people banging nails here that I've never met before in my life."

That trip to Disney was essentially courtesy of another group of Lydon family friends, Paul's coworkers at Eisai Research Institute, in Andover, where he is a chemist.

Paul says more than 200 people wanted to help send the family to Disney, to generate precious lifelong memories, and collected more than $8,000. A good friend and colleague, Kevin, left his wife and three kids at home to accompany the

What goes around comes around."

For the friends and volunteers coming together in Wilmington to make this house ready, the cause is all about giving Paul the peace of mind to know that Alice and the children will have everything they need down the road. The family will be able to stay in the home that they love in their corner of Wilmington, with their neighbors and a strong support system.

"He needs to rest easy. That's the only thing we can give him," said Marzi. She notes that asking for and accepting help is pretty tough for anyone, and Paul, being a handy sort around the house, is no exception. Paul and Deb, neighbors for more than seven years, have always had a friendly rivalry about their lawns. They are the designated lawn maintenance personnel in their households Wilmington Building Supply. Many businesses and individuals have donated their time, talent and materials to bring this project to fruition and the Lydons some peace of mind.

The addition is 15 x 20 feet running from the foundation straight up to the third floor. The new space will house a bedroom on the main floor with a larger bathroom, incorporating tenets of universal design, which will accommodate the medical equipment that may be necessary in the future. The bathroom also features a wheelchair ready shower.

Further, the three Lydon boys all occupy one bedroom today. When the addition is done it will make room for more space for the boys and another bathroom upstairs for Alice.

"Two weeks ago now, while we were away at Disney, it looked Lydon clan to Disney and help manage the logistics of the vacation: things like push Paul in a wheelchair through several airports, negotiate car rentals and theme park rides.

"When you feel the world start to close in around you and then you realize that even in the most brutal economic times, people are coming in and digging in, donating time, materials, money, emotional and spiritual support... it's just incredible," Paul told the Crier in a quiet voice. "I was just blown away. As rough a trip as this has been we haven't had to worry about money or financial things. We've been able to focus on the important things."

Marzi agrees.

"I am so awestruck about what people have come forward with," she said. "They are really generous and nice people.

and when one mows the other will be out there right away. Now, Deb mows Paul's lawn because his condition has advanced to the point where he cannot do it. Likewise, he cannot contribute to the makeover of his home in the manner he used to be able to, often with the help of his dad.

"To suddenly to be dependent on other people for things I think I should be able to do myself," Paul fades off, thinking. "One thing that brings it all into focus, to know my wife and kids will be able to stay here. This has been our home for ten years now. Our kids are very much installed and love living here. The fact that we could accomplish all this without having to move away from our friends and neighbors up here is huge. It's been a Godsend. It's been amazing."

Division 2 North Sectional Semi-Final

Masco ends Wildcats terrific season in Double OT

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

READING - It was a game of inches, but a season that lasted miles.

The Wilmington High School boys soccer team fell victim to league rival Masconomet Regional last Thursday, 1-0, in double overtime during the Division 2 North Sectional Semi-Final game played at Reading High School.

The Wildcats hit the crossbar twice, just missing out on two very close attempts to score. Yet on the other end, Masco ended Wilmington's streak of 274 minutes in the tournament without giving up a goal. Kevin McAllister fed John Miller with a beautiful cross pass from the middle of the field to his right, and Miller was able to outrun Wildcat goalie Marty Bamberg to the ball, putting it to the far left corner from 20 yards out for the game winner which enabled the Chieftains to celebrate on the rain soaked artificial turf of Reading High School.

That goal for Masco ended the Wildcats season and ended the team's very impressive 19-game unbeaten streak and the aforementioned 274-minute streak of not allowing a goal in the post-season. Wilmington, the No. 4 seed, ended the marvelous season with an overall record of 15-2-4, losing its first game of the season and its last. Masco the No. 1 seed on the other hand, advanced to the sectional final and defeated Winchester, 2-0, putting the team two wins away from a state championship and improving the team's record to 21-0-1 (only blemish coming in a 1-1 tie with Wilmington earlier this season).

Masco controlled the play in the second overtime, missing out on a golden chance to score with a terrific save by Wildcat keeper Marty Bamberg with 6:30 left, before putting the game away taking advantage of a midfield breakdown, and scoring the lone goal with 5:08 remaining.

"We played well," said Wilmington head coach Steve Scanlon. "They have a great team and I tip my hat to them. They are a very polished team. You could see the breakdown - (McAllister) hit the seam and (Miller is) a good goal scorer. Marty made a decision and he had to come, and the kid made a nice shot. But we had our chances too. I'm proud of my guys. No one thought we'd be here back in August."

Prior to the 2007 season, the boys' soccer team had a handful of outstanding teams, including the 1991, 1997 and 1998 teams. Medway defeated the 1991 and 1998 teams in the Division 3 State Semi-Finals, and in 1997 the Wildcats lost to Gateway Regional in the Division 3 state final played at Boston University. Last year the Wildcats shared its first league title of any kind with Masco, and lost a handful of very talented players to prestigious collegiate programs, thus leaving many holes for the 2008 team. This year's team blended in very quickly and put together an outstanding season and now are certainly in that discussion of being one of the best teams of all-time.

Among the highlights this season included defeating Newburyport and Reading in the state tournament leading up to the Masco game, while the most impressive stat was the team gave up just 14 goals in 21 games this season (four coming in the first game of the season). The defense was led by sweep-back Colin Wilson, outside backs Colin Foley and Gott Seanchandi, defensive-midfielder Dylan Reed and a very inexperienced, yet gutsy and very athletic keeper named Marty Bamberg. It was Bamberg who kept Masco off the board earlier in the second overtime. Off a corner kick to his right, the ball skipped through to the far post. Masco's Andrew Mello was all alone and he fired a hard shot which was headed to the far right side before Bamberg got a hand on it, tipping it over the net for one of his eight saves on the night.

"That was the one I thought was going in," said Scanlon. "That kid labeled it. Marty has great reactions and reflexes, so that's another example of him making a great save by putting (the ball) over the bar. Marty's been incredible. When you think that he's replacing Vinny (Papageorgiou) who was all-state last year, Marty did a great job for us all season long. He's one of the big reasons why we are here."

On Thursday night, the team's defensive play led by Bamberg was spectacular once again.

"Our defense has been the story of the year," said Scanlon. "They have been solid all season. Something had to give. We're happy with what we have achieved this season. It stings right now, but it'll go away once the kids realize what a good season they had."

Wilmington's best chances came when tri-captain Jon Spurr nailed the top left cross bar on a bullet shot from 35 yards out in the first half, before senior Ryan Kennedy hit the crossbar on a rebound shot off a deflection in front just minutes into the second half.

"We had our chances," said Scanlon. "But with the long throws and the launched (free kicks), we have to get to them, but we just never consistently did that all season. I don't know what it is but we did not go up to get those."

Wilmington loses six seniors from this team including tri-captains Wilson, Spurr and forward Jason Pereira, as well as Reed, Kennedy and Bobby Folk. The rest of the team all returns including the likes of talented juniors Bamberg, Saenchandi and Foley in the back and Mike Murphy, Caleb Rogers in the middle, as well as a strong sophomore group consisting of Chris DiCecca, Nick Godzyk and Andy Owens among several of the 21 players returning.

"We have the whole group back next year except five or six of them," said Scanlon. "We're excited about the season we had. We had a good season. We play in a tough league and these guys are the class of the league."

Stewart, Wildcats rush past Vikings

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Wilmington High School senior quarterback Steve Stewart kept up his incredible season by scoring three more touchdowns and rushing for 121 yards on 16 carries leading the Wildcats past Triton Regional, 27-14, in a Cape Ann League game played on Friday night at Alumni Stadium.

The Wildcats, who before the game received notification that Lawrence forfeited their victory over Wilmington due to violating a MIAA rule, closes out the CAL schedule with a 4-1 record and 9-1 overall mark. If Masconomet loses to North Andover on Thanksgiving Day, Wilmington will end up as co-champions of the league along with the Chieftains, who would then advance to the playoffs because of its win over the Wildcats.

"Wilmington was able to get its ninth win of the season behind 336 yards of offense, including the performance by Stewart, as well as 85 second half rushing yards by sophomore Kevin Moriarty, and 48 yards on the ground with a touchdown by senior captain Anthony Nihan, the team's fullback.

"I was really happy with the offensive line tonight," said first-year coach Mike Barry. "I thought we ran the ball very well ... and I'm pretty happy with the way we passed the ball tonight as well. After we established the run I thought (Steve Stewart) did a nice job connecting on a few of those passes."

With ten games under his belt, Stewart has rushed for 889 yards with 14 touchdowns, as well as completing 51-of-103 passes for 598 yards including five touchdown strikes. He has accounted for 47 percent of the team's 2,981 total offensive yards.

Stewart went right to work after the Wildcat defense held Triton to a three-and-out series to open the game. Starting on its own 25, Stewart gained 11 yards on his first carry, before going 57 yards untouched through the middle of the Vikings defense for the game's first touchdown. His PAT kick was good and the Wildcats had a quick 7-0 lead just 3:46 into the game.

The score remained 7-0 until the 'Cats begun a drive on its own 26 with 7:21 left in the second quarter. After several small gains, Stewart connected with senior wide out Mike Manganelli for a 19-yard completion putting the ball into Triton territory. From there, the Wildcats mixed up the run and the pass nicely, with Nihan getting the ball twice for 19 combined yards and Stewart hitting Scott Bonica with a pair of passes for a combined 15 yards. That put the ball on the Triton 12, and Stewart went 11 yards to the 1-yard line on his first carry, before finishing off the drive with a 1-yard QB keeper. His PAT kick was good and the Wildcats took a 14-0 lead into halftime.

After both teams were forced to punt on their first series of the third quarter, Wilmington again put together a long, successful scoring drive. This one started on the Wildcat 24 yard line with 6:01 left in the third quarter and it ended with Stewart going to his left for an 11-yard keeper play, with 49 seconds left. The drive lasted 5:52 over 11 plays and was helped out by a 15-yard penalty on Triton after Bonica caught a 5-yard pass on first down.

Triton sandwiched its two scores between Nihan's touchdown in the fourth quarter. Quarterback Sam Ferrara tossed two long touchdowns to Mike Foley, the first from 30 yards out with 8:27 left, and the second became an 80-yard TD strike with 1:39 to go making the score much closer than it actually was.

"This was a good team effort win," said Barry. "We played good team defense especially in the first half but I thought we played good team offense overall. We got beat on a couple of pass plays and that happens. I wish I didn't but those things happen. I'm pretty happy with the effort. The kids came together and played well. I liked how the kids came out. They came out a lot better than last week against North Andover and now we have a one-game season."

That one-game season will take place at Alumni Stadium on Thanksgiving morning against the struggling Redmen.

Cleaning out the Fall WHS Sports Notebooks

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

On Friday morning the Lawrence Eagle Tribune reported that the Lawrence Football team had to forfeit all but one of its five wins because of an ineligible player. The games in question came against Malden, North Andover, Wilmington and Triton, thus giving the Wildcat varsity team another win, pushing the team's record to 8-1 overall. Later Friday night, Wilmington defeated Triton Regional, 27-14, to up its record to 9-1.

Hector Longo of the Tribune reported on Friday that: "Halfback Anthony DeJesus, a Haverhill High transfer, is the ineligible player in question. DeJesus never received a waiver from the Massachusetts Interscholastic Athletic Association to play as a fifth-year senior."

"After transferring from Haverhill High last summer, DeJesus said he had made up enough credits in the course of one academic year to become a senior this fall. He had been cleared by the school to resume play with the football team, but the MIAA mandated waiver process for a fifth-year senior was never taken care of."

Lawrence was on its way to its second best season in the past 27 years, but this oversight negates that.

"Basically, it was oversight in the past on my part," Lawrence Athletic Director Tim Finn told Longo. "This year was his fifth year and he hadn't been granted clearance. We self-reported the problem as soon as we discovered it."

Wilmington High Football coach Mike Barry was asked about the situation after his Wildcats came away with the win over Triton on Friday night.

"I don't know what to say," he said. "I give Lawrence credit for doing the right thing I guess. I know the Lawrence coaches have worked real hard, and you look at their record and that's tough. He's a real good guy. Technically we're 9-1 and I give Lawrence credit for doing what they thought was the right thing. I'd probably do the same thing - I know I'd do the same thing. It's just an awkward situation."

The forfeit victory now gives Wilmington and outside shot (extremely slim) of becoming co-champions of the Cape Ann League Large School Division only if North Andover knocks off Masconomet on Thanksgiving Day.

"We're still in the hunt but I think Masco owns all of the tiebreakers," said Barry. "You have to give Masco credit because they took care of business."

Fullerton tribute fitting

Friday night before and during halftime of the WHS Football game, the Town of Wilmington on behalf of the Athletic Department and local resident Fred Shine, honored the late Jackie Fullerton, in a terrific tribute. Fullerton was killed in the Vietnam War, after having a short athletic career at WHS, and leaving for Vietnam at the age of 17.

The entire tribute was outstanding, and it was great to see the Fullerton Family on hand for this long deserving tribute.

To read more about the Fullerton tribute, please read "Cookie's Column".

Cross Country season wraps up

More than a week ago the Wilmington High School boys and girls cross country teams finished their seasons at the Eastern Mass Division 3 State Meet held at the Franklin Park Course in Boston. Although none of the runners were able to advance to this past week-end's All-State Meet, this was certainly an up and down season for both programs, says head coach Tom Bradley.

"The Girls (team) finished 6-6 for the second straight season and I thought we might do better," said Bradley. "We lost two close meets that would have helped. The (Cape Ann) League is very tough. We lost to four teams that went to the All-State (Meet) and we lost to two other teams that sent four individuals to All-States. We are a competitive team stuck in the middle."

The program takes a huge hit with the loss of two very talented runners, and two extremely nice, polite, hard working kids with Natalie Russo and Ali Lyman.

"They are the team's co-MVPs and they are not replaceable," said Bradley. "But we had a lot of depth this season and we could be very good if five to six or seven or more girls really commit to being the best they can be. The really good teams you hear how the kids did lots of running together all summer. Nikki Sirignano, Syd Russo, Jess Burke, Courtney Collins, Lisa Hitchins, Cali Pepper, Lori Fletcher, Michelle Filippi and others have the ability to make something happen if they make the commitment to each other."

As for the boys' team, Bradley is very concerned. He is most concerned about the lack of numbers with the program, and not necessarily the fact that the team didn't win a single meet this season.

"We need to really recruit for boys that can and want to compete," said Bradley. "We have three very good runners returning with Tom Valente, Zack Sears and Cole Pepper. We need other returning runners to make a commitment to preparing in the summer to help the team."

Bradley, who also coaches indoor and outdoor track, is excited about the 2009 Fall Season already.

"It was an enjoyable (2008) season, the kids are great and I am already looking forward to next season," he said.

importantly to enjoy each other's company, to have some laughs and reminisce about this past fall season.

The Wildcats finished off yet another extremely successful season, this one including a 19-game unbeaten streak, a final record of 15-2-4, which included post-season wins over Newburyport and Reading.

This is another great example of what happens when you give Steve Scanlon and Chip Bruce a group of terrific well-balanced student-athletes, who have some talent, who work extremely hard and who are eager to play together as a team, eager to learn and improve as players.

Scanlon and Bruce, who also guide the ice hockey team, finished the 2008 season with a combined record of 32-5-8 between the two sports. That included one league title, five state tournament victories, a trip to the sectional semi-finals, a North Sectional championship and a trip to the Division 2 State Championship in hockey. Amazingly the five losses have come against Masco and Haverhill in soccer - Masco the league champions and Haverhill one of the strongest Division 1 teams in the area - and then Lynnfield, Tewksbury and Sandwich in ice hockey with Lynnfield the reigning league champions from the year before, Tewksbury who the 'Cats defeated in the North Final and Sandwich the team the Wildcats lost to in the state final. Absolutely incredible that in the other 40 games, neither the ice hockey or soccer teams fell victim to a any other play-off caliber team, nevermind letting one less than .500 team slip one through.

So much of the credit for this year's soccer success also goes to the tri-captains Jon Spurr, Colin Wilson and Jason Pereira. You couldn't ask for three better all-around kids and most especially leaders who instill nothing but teamwork.

And anyone who hasn't had a chance to see Gott Saenchandi in action, I strongly urge you to get down to a soccer game next season and watch this extremely talented kid play defense.

Hopefully there wasn't an oversight

Just in case it seemed like the performance of WHS junior Brittney McLaughlin during the Cape Ann League girls' soccer all-star game went unnoticed in last week's Town Crier, certainly that's not the case. The junior scored three of the goals with teammate Charlotte Jensen getting the other as they helped the Large Schools come away with a 4-12 victory. Due to lack of room in last week's paper, thoughts from head coach Sue Hendee on that performance had to be left out.

"It was really something to see the Wilmington girls score all of the team's goals," said Hendee, after her team defeated Amesbury two weeks ago. "Brittney played great and it was really something to see her get those three goals. And then Charlotte got the other, so it was a special night for the soccer program."

I'd like to thank D.H. for pointing out that it seemed like McLaughlin's performance went under the radar. My apologies if it seemed slighted.

Final Thoughts

The Town Crier has extended its deadline for parents or loved ones to take out ads in next week's Thanksgiving Football section wishing best of luck to their favorite football players, cheerleaders and band members. If you are interested in honoring your favorite boy or girl, give Marci Ragucci a call here at the Town Crier at 978-658-2346 ... Speaking of the Football section, I usually get calls or emails after the fact that several of the names in the all-time Captains list are wrong. If you already know of a mistake that happens regularly, please email me with the correction before Monday at: jamiapote@hotmail.com ...

Also in the first few weeks of December will be the annual Town Crier Coach of the Year, Male and Female Athletes of the Year honors. If you have a nomination your voice would like to be heard, so send me an email or give me a call here at the paper ...

And one final thought that perhaps would make you chuckle. I was flipping through the channels Sunday night after the Dallas Football game. I came across a horror movie, so of course I had to tune in since I'm a big fan of stupid B movie classics. This one was "Return to Horror High" and two of the main stars were a very young George Clooney, and Marsha Brady playing a female police officer. And seeing those two in such an awful movie was certainly enjoyable to watch.

A community honors a friend and a hero

They stood in a balmy mid-November mist under some small floodlights by a grill stacked with well-done burgers. Pass the food and share the memories - Jackie Fullerton's friends and family were back in town, where their hearts and minds will always rest with a classmate and a brother.

Wilmington pounded Triton-Regional, 27-14 in a Cape Ann League football game played hours later at Alumni Stadium, and long before that victory, WHS students - especially those in Lisa Lucia's English class - were here to help prepare for what would be a family-reunion of sorts that honored a young man who played ever-so-briefly for the Wilmington High School varsity football team of 1964.

It was January, 31 1968. Fullerton died on that date so long ago in the Saigon Tet Offensive, but his memory was very much alive Friday night, as members of this season's WHS football varsity wore his number 36 on the backs of their helmets as others wore their hearts and love for Jackie on their sleeves while serving up many memories.

It was an event triggered by Wilmington's friend-to-many-veterans Fred Shine, who weeks ago spoke to Lucia's class at Wilmington High School. The students were moved by Shine and his story of courage surrounding Fullerton and friends John Rich, Robert Parent and Richard Welch, all of whom saw duty and died in Vietnam. The WHS seniors listened and learned before their journey to the Moving Wall when it came to Wilmington days later.

"Fred was very candid with the class. The kids could ask him anything," said Lucia as she mingled with past and present students of Wilmington High School. "They all talked about it days after he spoke with the class. Four of my students were telling me today that they thought that Fred was so cool, and that they couldn't wait to grow up and be older just like him. To see this person, this Vietnam Veteran giving back to this community, that's what the kids were talking about days later. They told me that we should do more of this tailgating with the 'older generation' of Wilmington."

Lucia herself was moved by watching the interaction of some people that hadn't seen one another in many years. It was the stuff she says, that makes her life and work in Wilmington so worthwhile. Her memories of this night and of Fullerton's family and friends will be filed in that forever-to-be-cherished memory bank.

"I plan on staying in Wilmington forever. I love everything about this town - the library, the athletics, the senior center - everything. I just love this community. It's got to be the best place to come to school every day."

Wilmington High School's Athletic Director and former football coach Ed Harrison is all-business on game-day, but this Friday night, it was not business-as-usual for him, as he walked among the memories and went over the pregame program with Shine that included an honor guard and a tribute to Fullerton that took everyone back to the day that Jackie died. It tried no one's patience. The game could wait. This was Jackie's time to shine. It was what that number 36 on the back of all those helmets was all about.

"All of these kids (about 40 students, most of them seniors) were out here about 4:30 this afternoon helping to set things up," offered Harrison before kickoff. "This all started when the Moving Wall came to town. Fred Shine and a couple of other Veterans spoke to some classes, and it just took off. To do something like this, even 40 years later, is good, because it gets the kids talking about history and a war that too often is not talked about."

Eighty-year-old Frank Kelley taught and coached many freshmen during his years at Wilmington High School, and it is not exaggerating to say that he remembers them all, from their math test scores to a track meet result. Before heading off to a quick dinner of a hot dog and some home-made chili, Kelley stopped and talked about a freshman that would have been a member of the WHS graduating class of 1967 had he not left for Vietnam and served his country with honor until the day he died.

"This class of 1967 (many on hand for this night) gets together in the summer for a cookout, they're just doing it a little earlier this year. They all still think of Jackie. He was a good kid. They were all good kids," said Kelley.

Wally Fullerton saw this night not only as a way to honor his brother, but classmate Welch, who died in Vietnam and is also remembered on the Moving Wall.

"I remember that Richard Welch and I had on the same suit coats in our class pictures. We swapped coats for the pictures," says Wally of the days when it wasn't always possible for a family of eight to have a coat for every occasion. "I loved Richard Welch. He was like my brother, just like Jackie."

Jim Newhouse was in the starting backfield on that 1964 team that included players Billy Ritchie, Dick Page and Doug Dayton. Jack Fullerton was way down on the football depth chart, but he was front-and-center with Newhouse, a WHS graduate of 1965. "He was just a tough, hard working kid from Wilmington like me," says Newhouse. Like most guys from Wilmington. That's what makes the town so special to a teacher like Lucia and a grizzled Friday-night lights veteran like Harrison.

Then, there is that other generation of Fullertons-born and raised in Wilmington, loving football and everything about this night. Paul Fullerton still lives and works in Wilmington, and his sons Derek and Scott, both former football standouts at Wilmington High School and Shawsheen Tech respectively, were not thinking about a game, but about their uncle and those memories they carry back from when they were toddlers until today.

"I've never seen anything like this, honoring a Vietnam Veteran with a tailgate party before a football game," says

Derek Fullerton, 33. "It means a lot because he was my uncle, and because this community sticks together. I don't live in town anymore, but it really shows what Wilmington is all about. Every Memorial Day and every Veterans Day, Scott and I were the little ones standing by my uncle's grave and saluting the flag. Our family always made sure that we never forgot about him. We both feel like we knew him because of all the stories that we heard over the years. I haven't seen some of my uncles in a couple of years, so this is like a family reunion."

Brother Scott, 29 and a 1997 graduate of Shawsheen Tech, didn't need to play football at Wilmington High School to learn just what being a Wildcat was all about. It was about being the best that you could be, even at the age of 17 when Jack Fullerton made that decision to fight for his country.

"His life and what he died for mean everything to me. I heard about the sacrifice that he made when I was growing up. He was always a hero to me," said Scott Fullerton.

Jack Fullerton and family were bringing a town together to share memories and tailgate before a game that he loved and a high school that draws people like Lisa Lucia and Fred Shine together, if even for a moment to honor more than a memory. Just ask some of those smiling friends huddled around a grill and under a light, on this Friday night in Wilmington.

Brett Kidik shines in his Bishop Fenwick debut at quarterback

By MIKE GIANNATTASIO
Sports Correspondent

On Saturday, sophomore Brett Kidik of Wilmington had an incredible performance in his first game as quarterback for the Bishop Fenwick High School varsity football team. Kidik finished the game completing 7-out-of-7 passes for 140 yards and a touchdown in Bishop Fenwick's 35-14 win over Archbishop Williams High School.

Kidik had previously played with the junior-varsity team at Bishop Fenwick, and he got called up to the varsity on November 10th after previous Bishop Fenwick quarterback Chris Renzulli broke his hand during a game on November 8th.

Bishop Fenwick assistant coach Paul Lyman said Kidik looked very nervous at practices throughout the week, but the pre-game jitters obviously went away for him on Saturday as Kidik led the Crusaders to their fifth win of the season.

"Watching him play was great because he struggled all week long in practices and yet on game-day it looked like he had been there all season long," said Lyman, who has been the assistant coach for the Crusaders for 17 years and who also previously worked as the Wilmington High School varsity softball coach. "He was so nervous (at the practices) and we as a coaching staff were concerned that he wasn't even going to be able to do it."

Lyman, Head Coach Dave Woods and the rest of the Bishop Fenwick coaching staff decided to actually give another Bishop Fenwick player, Kyle White, the start on Saturday, as he was practicing the quarterback position with Kidik throughout the week.

White, the primary running back on the team, had a tough time completing passes during the first offensive series for Bishop Fenwick on Saturday. The weather outside did not favor him either, as the heavy rain made it more difficult for White to get into a passing rhythm.

The coaching staff decided to go with Kidik during the second offense series, and they obviously stayed with him the rest of the game as he looked great from the get-go. Lyman said he was not surprised to see the phenomenal play from Kidik, especially since he performed well for the junior-varsity team all season long.

"He's been a great player for our program," said Lyman. "He has been the JV quarterback all year long and has actually thrown about ten touchdowns for us at the JV level."

On Thanksgiving morning, Bishop Fenwick plays Austin Prep in their last game of the season. Kidik should expect to play as quarterback in the game, but the coaches are not ready to give him the starting position just yet as they still want him to compete with White for the role in the team's practices.

"We have them both working at quarterback (during practices), but I'm sure they are both going to see action during the game," said Lyman. "(Kidik) just had a tremendous performance his first week so we feel pretty comfortable with him and he feels more comfortable with himself."

Lyman went on to add that the team already has high expectations for Kidik as quarterback next year.

"He might be the starting quarterback for us next year and our main quarterback (Chris Renzulli) may end up being a running back because he's a real quick kid and a real fast kid," said Lyman. "It's still up in the air what we're going to do but he may end up being the quarterback of the future for us."

"He's done a great job for us all year long and we have a lot of high hopes for him. He truly has a lot of potential."

Four locals help LCA soccer team

It is often said that in sports, momentum can take a team a long way. The Lexington Christian Academy Boys Soccer team proved that sentiment once again after carrying a 14-game unbeaten streak into their match at Beaver Country

Day School on November 6th.

Standing at 9-2-4 in the league, the team needed a win to guarantee themselves the right to be called champions. The Beaver team fought hard until the end but ultimately could not stop the Blue and White as they finished off a 4-0 win to earn the 2008 Eastern Independent League Championship.

Reggies tackle Rams, 21-10

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

ANDOVER - There were many good things for the Shawsheen Tech football team to take out of last Saturday's tilt with Commonwealth Athletic Conference rival Greater Lawrence Tech at Louis E. Gleason Field. The Shawsheen defense played what had to be their best game of the season, dominating the Reggies from start to finish, the once again short handed Rams battled gamely despite missing numerous players due to injury, and sophomore quarterback Ryan Woolaver of Tewksbury showed a great deal of promise when taking over under center in the second half.

But despite all of the positives for the Rams, the end result was the one big negative for Shawsheen as the Rams fell to the Reggies by a score of 21-10.

The Rams allowed only one offensive touchdown and limited the Reggies to 138 total yards of offense, but a kickoff return for a touchdown open the second half and an interception return for a score in the final two minutes of the game provided enough points for Greater Lawrence to earn the victory.

With the loss, the Rams dropped to 5-5 on the season (1-2 in the CAC Large), while Greater Lawrence evened their record at 5-5 and improved to 2-2 in the CAC Large.

Greater Lawrence scored the winning points with 1:55 left in the game when Angel Rivera plunged into the end zone from two yards out.

Moments earlier, the Rams had thwarted the best Greater Lawrence drive of the game when the Reggies had marched 61 yards to the Rams 4 yard line before being stopped when Derek Harding of Tewksbury recovered a fumble to give the Rams the ball.

The drive, however, would pay dividends later in the fourth quarter when after a short punt the Reggies took over at the Shawsheen 32 yard line and went on a seven play drive to score their only offensive touchdown when Rivera scored from two yards out on fourth and goal to make the score 14-10 when Paul Menjivar added the second of his three extra points on the day.

Rivera then sealed the victory for the Reggies with an interception return of 29 yards for a touchdown with 1:40 left in the game to make the score 21-10.

"The kids battled all the way through and Woolaver did a nice job stepping in at quarterback," Shawsheen coach Al Costabile said. "This was a tough one. There were a couple of key plays we needed to make and we just could not get it done."

The Rams held a 3-0 halftime lead on the strength of a 28 yard field goal from junior kicker Nick Danas with 8:38 left in the first half, but that lead quickly evaporated on the opening kickoff of the second half when the Reggies Joe Pizzuto returned the kick 87 yards for a score, bursting right through the middle of the Rams special teams coverage and racing untouched to the end zone for a 7-3 lead when Menjivar added the extra point.

The Rams came right back, however, going on their most impressive drive of the game under the direction of Ryan Woolaver who had come on in relief of starter Kevin White to make the score 10-7.

Mixing the run and pass effectively Woolaver marched the Rams 67 yards on 12 plays and Shawsheen took the lead on a nine yard run up the middle by Cory Foss (20 carries, 80 yards) with 4:23 left in the third quarter to make the score 10-7. Key plays on the drive included a 21 yard completion to Mike Allen and a six yard completion to Allen on third and six to give the Rams a first down at the Reggie 12 yard line.

"That was a great drive and that is what we need," Costabile said. "We need to find consistency and sustain drives."

Despite the loss, and the Rams inability to find an offensive rhythm for much of the game, Costabile was pleased with the overall effort of his team.

"It really was a great performance," Costabile said. "We have a lot of kids playing key roles for us that would not normally be in those roles. At times we played very tough today."

The Rams will wrap up their season on Thanksgiving morning at Shawsheen against arch rival Greater Lowell.

Both soccer teams take Voc championship games

BILLERICA - There aren't many firsts left for Shawsheen Tech athletics to accomplish, but the Rams managed to come up with a new one this fall.

For the first time ever, Shawsheen Tech athletic squads won State Vocational championships in both boys and girls soccer in the same year. In all, the school won three state crowns as the girls cross country team also ran its way to the vocational championship last week.

Shawsheen's historic day came last Wednesday on the campus of Assabet Valley Regional High School in Marlboro.

First, the girls team went into overtime before defeating Commonwealth Athletic Conference rival Greater Lowell while the boys also took down a CAC foe, edging Northeast Regional by a 1-0 score.

For both squads, the road to the final was a difficult one.

The boys went to a penalty kick shootout before sneaking past Greater New Bedford while the girls played another overtime game, defeating North Shore, 2-1.

It was the second straight vocational title for the girls team coached by Doug Michaud.

"It's a great thing for the girls to have," said Michaud, whose team was edged by Winthrop in the first round of the Div. 3 North tournament on Sunday. "We're the best vocational team in the state and they love that."

The girls enjoyed one of their most successful campaigns in program history. Including the postseason, the Rams ended with an overall record of 16-2-2 and had a resume that included a league title, the Voke crown and the top seed in the North section of the MIAA tournament.

Michaud also proudly points out that 21 of the 22 girls that played in a varsity game for Shawsheen finished with at least one goal this fall.

In the Voke tourney, Jenna Zechner scored three goals in the final game, including the game-winner. Janelle Madore assisted two goals, including Zechner's overtime tally.

Charlotte Ardini had Shawsheen's other goal.

Against North Shore, the Rams broke a scoreless tie with seven minutes left in the match when Zechner converted a Jenn Carroll pass, but North Shore forced overtime with a goal in the final three minutes of play.

Carroll scored the game-winning goal just three minutes into overtime.

For the boys, Luke Riberio had the lone tally of the game against Northeast with his unassisted goal late in the first half.

"It was a great day in our school history," said Ram coach Dick Barriss, who won the Voke crown for the first time as a coach. "Our senior class has accomplished a lot. They have worked very hard throughout their careers."

In the win against Greater New Bedford, regulation and two overtime sessions were scoreless, forcing the PKs.

Riberio, Mike LaMonica, junior Jeff Jaimes and Andy Puccio all scored with Puccio's being the game-winner.

The Rams also participated in the MIAA Div. 3 North tournament, winning a round before falling to St. Mary's on Tuesday, 2-1.

Shawsheen ended the season at 14-3-6.

The win for LCA, though, did not come without a full effort. The game was scoreless at the half, and remained 0-0 until the 25th minute of the 2nd half, when junior Kjell Pu connected on a volley by junior Tim Patrie of Wilmington, MA for the game-winner. Sixteen minutes later, senior Vatché Demirjian added some insurance with an unassisted goal to make it 2-0.

Two more goals - one each by junior Geoff Kishbaugh (assist by senior Dan Carucci) and sophomore Mark Doremus of Wilmington (assist by Demirjian), finished off the scoring and set up an enthusiastic celebration by the boys from LCA.

Potcner collects two assists in playoffs

By DAN IGO

Wilmington's Stephen Potcner had two assists for the UMass Lowell soccer team as they defeated Molloy College 2-0 in the NCAA first round on Friday.

Potcner assisted on the game-winning goal in the 81st minute. Unfortunately for him and the River Hawks, they were eliminated from the NCAAAs on Sunday after falling to Dowling College 3-1.

Two Wilmington residents also competed in the race. Tom Berrigan finished in 40th place with a time of 22:50. John Skinner's time of 25:34 placed him 64th.

Once again, the Wilmington Pop Warner cheerleaders took home a lot of hardware at the New England regionals. The "A" and "C" teams took home first place in their respective divisions and the "D" team came in second place. The New England Championships will be held this Saturday at the Worcester DCU Center.

The "Turkey Powder Puff Football Game" will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 26th. For more details, visit the Pop Warner website at: <http://www.wilmingtonpopwarner.com/>

Local post offices collect and deliver for Local Heroes, Inc.

POSTAL OFFICIALS gathered at Woburn's East Woburn Branch earlier this week to discuss the Local Heroes program they will be supporting this holiday season. Included were (l to r) Caroline Calaruso, Postmaster-Burlington, William Dunn, Postmaster-Winchester, Charles Nichols Postmaster-Wilmington, James Murphy, Officer-in-Charge, Lynnfield, Jeffrey Roach, Officer-in-Charge, Woburn and Michael Fairbanks, Woburn Supervisor.

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Wilmington based Local Heroes, Inc. has good reason to celebrate and give thanks this holiday season as it kicks off its fifth year of sending care packages to our troops serving in the combat zones of Afghanistan and Iraq.

The grassroots organization celebrated the end of its fourth year with a grand total of 7,617 packages that have been sent through the auspices of the United States Postal Service's (USPS)

Wilmington branch. At the start of the fifth year the USPS in the 018-019 Postal District will be extended thanks to former Woburn resident Mike Fairbanks, the acting supervisor of maintenance at the Woburn Post Office on Washington Street.

Fairbanks was approached by a co-worker, Bigo Conte, and asked if there was any way to help Local Heroes. The result of the not so simple request was that the post offices in Burlington, Lynnfield, Wilmington, Winchester and Woburn will now have collection boxes for items that people wish to donate for shipment overseas.

The proper collectible items are: postage money, Mach 3® razors, Cup-a-Soup®, stick deodorant, peanut butter, shampoo/conditioner, jelly (not glass), foot powder, ear swabs, packaged tuna, pretzels, mouthwash, raisins, nail clippers, Oatmeal/Granola Bars, toilet paper, Rice Krispie Treats®, baby wipes, batteries, tissues, Twizzlers®, hand/foot warmers, sunflower seeds, sunscreen, chex mix, hand sanitizer, beef jerky, socks, toothbrush, movies VHS/DVD, toothpaste, crossword puzzles, powdered drinkMix, playing cards, coffee/tea/hot cocoa, magazines/books, sugar packets, Band-Aids®, creamer, feminine products, gum/candy, stationary, instant Oatmeal, brush/combs, lip Balm, windshield cleaner- wipers, shaving cream, phone cards international use, mp3 player's, softballs, gloves, t-shirts/long Johns, and flashlights.

"I've known Lou (Cimaglia, the founder of Local Heroes) for many years. I called him and reported that we wanted to collect things but did not have a plan (for distribution)," Fairbanks said.

Thus the plan was worked out that the boxes would go into the lobbies of the above named post offices. People are invited to bring any of the requested items to the locations until December 1.

"On Wednesday, December 3, we'll bring everything down to the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wilmington and package the boxes with them," Fairbanks said.

He added, "This is the first year the post office has been directly involved."

In a prepared statement, Fairbanks said, "The Woburn, Wilmington, Burlington, Winchester and Lynnfield Post Offices and Local Heroes need your help to successfully reach their goal. The acts of charity from the community are extremely important to the success of our troops. It's the little things from home that can have a large, positive impact on the success of our soldiers."

Cimaglia, a veteran and the Veterans Agent for the Town of Wilmington, and his wife, Marion, started inadvertently started Local Heroes, when they started to send a few items to friends that were serving in Iran with his former National Guard unit, the 181st Engineering Company. Other people asked if they could send care packages to their friends and family serving in Afghanistan and Iran as well.

Thus, on November 3, 2004, a small group of people got together at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wilmington and Local Heroes was formed as a legal not-for-profit organization.

According to the Mission Statement, "Local Heroes, Inc is a 501 (c) (3) non-profit organization working to support our local servicemen and servicewomen and their families. 100% of all donations received go directly to these local heroes."

Cimaglia said, "Our goal is to send a care package to each one of our Local Heroes during the next year to demonstrate our appreciation for their service."

There is a second mission of the group. They are looking to provide support for the families left behind, according to Cimaglia.

He noted that qualified families needing assistance with fuel and utility bills, as well as food costs, can contact Local Heroes and arrangements will be made. To date, since this portion of the program started, Local Heroes has reached out to eight or nine families in the Wilmington/Tewksbury area.

"So long as we have enough donations, if (the families) need a tank of oil, then that's what we do," Cimaglia said.

Because of this, the group will also accept cash donations. For more information on how to help in this cause, go to www.Mass-local-heroes.org.

heroes.org. However, cash or checks should not be left in the post office collection boxes.

Local Heroes will also hold a fundraiser that promises to be a good time. It will take place at the Tewksbury Knights of Columbus on November 29, 2008 and there will be live music, and raffles for a donation of $20.

As always, Cimaglia and a crew of Local Heroes volunteers will be attending the Annual Wilmington-Tewksbury Thanksgiving Day football rivalry (at Wilmington this year). They will be passing out bumper stickers and flyers and collecting donations from the fans.

Another new feature this year will be the collection of food baskets that will be given out to deserving families of servicemen serving overseas. If you know of a family that could use this help during the holiday season please contact Local Heroes at their website. The date the packages will be put together and the location will also be posted on the website.

Cimaglia is very appreciative of the offer from Fairbanks and the other postal workers. He added, "The Wilmington Post Office knows all about us, because we are there every Thursday morning with all the packages."

According to Cimaglia, "Every Wednesday, we have about 30 to 50 volunteers helping to pack the boxes. A lot of them have family overseas."

"We've turned into a support group as they share experiences and talk about

Movie Reviews

by Paul Feely

"QUANTUM OF SOLACE"

"QUANTUM OF SOLACE" is the latest James Bond movie starring Daniel Craig in his second performance as Bond. It's action-filled and lives up to its own hype.

plots, joining forces with a feisty Bond girl, but after a while the newness of the new Bond wears off. The result is still a satisfying sequel.

Quantum of Solace begins precisely where Casino Royale ends. After Bond fell in love with Vesper Lynd, a British treasury agent, she betrayed him but then was killed by her own cohorts.

A grieving Bond throws himself into the search for the organization behind Vesper's betrayal. He's on a personal crusade as well, seeking revenge for her murder. Of course, Bond doesn't tell M, his superior, about this, but as the body count grows larger, it's obvious his interest is beyond professional.

Quantum of Solace puts the action pedal to the metal in the opening sequence. Bad guys wielding automatic weapons pursue Bond during a car chase in non-descript Italian mountains. Repeating the extreme stunts of Casino Royale, Bond does the chasing during the rooftop pursuit that follows.

In the grand Bond movie tradition, Quantum of Solace takes 007 to international locales, as he moves from Italy to Haiti, where he meets the sultry Camille, played by actress Olga Kurylenko, a determined young woman who, like Bond, seeks revenge.

Haiti is also the place where Bond meets Dominic Greene, a global businessman whose image as an environmentalist hides his true intent.

Judy Dench is back as Bond's boss, M. Giancarlo Giannini is back as Rene Mathis, Bond's friend and ally. Having such film veterans, both of whom have meaty supporting roles, in the mix gives the already first-class Quantum of Solace even more class.

Quantum of Solace surpasses most action movies by the types of leaps and bounds that Craig's Bond is now famous for.

"MADAGASCAR: ESCAPE 2 AFRICA"

GRADE: ***

"Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa" is a worthy sequel to its 2005 predecessor. While still high on laughs, this version includes more "drama," watering down the fun factor of the original a bit.

At the end of the first film, Alex the performing lion (Ben Stiller), Marty the sassy, motor-mouthed zebra (Chris Rock), Melman the neurotic giraffe (David Schwimmer) and Gloria the hippo (Jada Pinkett Smith) were stranded on the island of Madagascar after taking a "vacation" from the Central Park Zoo.

A CORNUCOPIA OF PEOPLE AND PLANNING

New president in Reading-

"The Reading Rotary Club had its installation of officers and directors for the 2007-2008 year recently and Don Washburn, formerly of Massbank, was installed as president," notes the Reading edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The affair was a buffet dinner event this year at the request of President Washburn and was held at Meadow Brook Country Club. The meal featured an outstanding buffet with all the fixin's including carved roast beef."

"A number of Washburn's family members including his wife Donna, daughter Jessie and son-in-law Jonathan Bove, were present along with many members of Reading Rotary Club and other dignitaries."

"Out-going President Lynne Toothacker conducted the ceremonies and in attendance was Rotary District Governor Julia Phelps. The installation was followed by an evening of music and dancing with Tom Smith of Reading providing the songs and music."

"A highlight of the evening was the presentation of two Paul Harris fellowships to Ken and Laurie Foley, two non-Rotarians that have unselfishly devoted many hours of time to Rotary projects."

"Rotarian Bobbie Botticelli spoke of the many things the couple have done for Rotary and announced their selection. They were completely humbled by the announcement."

"In addition to Washburn, Kevin Barry was named President-Elect, Steve Donovan was named Vice President, Tim Kelley, a local attorney was named

Secretary and Brian Crosby of Crosby and Associates accountants was named Treasurer....

Party in Tewksbury!-

"In 1734, Tewksbury incorporated from Billerica, prompted by 34 families wishing for a shorter trek to church, particularly in the winter," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"Now, nearly 275 years later, much has changed in this little hamlet north of Boston. A new committee created to coordinate and plan a year of events celebrating the landmark date met for the first time with many events and goals already identified."

"Selectman Jerry Selissen, Chairman of the 275th Anniversary Committee, and Finance Committee member Ron Hall, Vice-Chair, spoke with the Crier, outlining the early plans of the nearly twenty-member committee."

"Conceived as a steering committee, Selissen and Hall want to focus on creating, coordinating, and publicizing events throughout the year. The 275th Anniversary Committee will not independently raise funds, but rather those civic organizations that agree to sponsor events will fundraise directly."

"Already plans are in the works for events in January and June, with more ideas just entering the planning phase."

"Saturday, January 17th, the town will celebrate its first step into township by marking the day Billerica signed the papers agreeing to establish Tewksbury with a special breakfast followed by the Recreation Department sponsored Winterfest."

"In June, the Committee plans an even bigger surprise. Perhaps one of the more elaborate events planned, the Committee began talks with the Tewksbury-Wilmington Minutemen, a Revolutionary War reenactment group, for a weekend event. Dave Hicks of the Minutemen plans to do an encampment on Saturday and Sunday with battle reenactments on both days. Even a cannon company will be obtained adding authenticity to the day. The reenactment will also likely include colonists and British citizens camping out alongside the soldiers. Breakfasts will be sponsored both days to enable residents and Minutemen a chance to experience history...."

Rip rap and questions in Wakefield

"The Wakefield Conservation Commission approved the request of the Wakefield Municipal Gas and Light Department to extend a pipe at 33-57 New Salem Street," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"It was determined that there was a public safety issue because the stream is causing erosion to the concrete supports of the gas regulator pads."

"The pipe will be extended and rip rap will be installed along the stream banks to prevent further erosion. A red maple tree will be planted and a wetlands seed mix will be used to return the area to its current condition. The Commission issued the Standard Order of Conditions and will check to make sure the rip rap is installed correctly covering the top of the pipe. Hay bales will be placed adjacent to the parking area, a silt fence will be installed, and loam will be used in the plantings that will be completed."

"The contractor is expected to be retained shortly and a construction sequence will be submitted to the Commission before the work begins."

"In other business, Carlton Quinn, the Project Engineer for Allen & Major Associates, Inc., presented plans regarding the work at Commonwealth Tank at 84 New Salem Street. The project was designed to remove the water off the property and take it under New Salem

MIDDLESEX EAST SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA QUESTION: Who are the only players to win multiple World Series MVPs?

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

JUNIOR FORWARD MARK DESANTIS

(STONEHAM) tied his career-high when he netted a pair of goals for the UMass Amherst men's soccer team at St. Bonaventure. The two goals were his first of the season. DeSantis also started the 2007 season with a pair of goals in the win over Dayton (10/12) - his first career goals. DeSantis finished the 2007 season with four goals and six assists for 14 points. For his career, he now has eight goals, 10 assists, and 26 points in 63 career games.

Harvard quarterback CHRIS PIZZOTTI

(READING) is this week's recipient of the New England Football Writer's Gold Helmet Award, presented Wednesday at the New England Football Writers luncheon at Harvard's Dillon Fieldhouse.

Pizzotti threw for a career-high 376 yards and four touchdowns - all in the first half - as Harvard topped Columbia 42-28. In the process, Pizzotti moved past former teammate and current Cincinnati Bengals QB Ryan Fitzpatrick into second place on Harvard's all-time passing yardage list (5,410). Pizzotti completed 25 of 40 passes in the without an interception against the Lions and has thrown just one interception in his last seven games.

Pizzotti, who is 18-2 as a starter in his career, has 15 touchdown passes this season which is the sixth-highest total in school history. He is just one TD pass out of third, two passes from second and three behind Neil Rose '03, who had 18 passes in 2000.

With his 25 completions against Columbia, Pizzotti moved into second place on Harvard's single season list with 165, surpassing his old mark of 164 set last season. He stands one completion shy of 400 for his career. The Gold Helmet award is the third career helmet for Pizzotti.

*Need some help with this week's question? One of the players was Bob Gibson.

The Susquehanna foot- ball team scored 30 unanswered points to close out the first half en route to a resounding 51-21 road win over WPI in Liberty League football action on Saturday afternoon. With the victory, the Crusaders improve to 4-5 overall while the Engineers fall to 6-3 on the season. Both squads are now 3-3 in conference play. FRESHMAN ERNIE MELLO (WILMINGTON) gave the home crowd something to cheer about when he ripped off a 66-yard run in the fourth quarter on his only carry of the game for WPI. Also for WPI, SOPHOMORE ADAM POWER (TEWKSBURY) added 9 tackles.

CHRIS HIGGINS, A LYNNFIELD NATIVE,

is a senior on the Boston University mens ice hockey team. Last year he won the Hockey East Len Ceglarski Sportsmanship Award, playing in 38-of-40 games, missing one game (vs. Dartmouth, 1/15) due to a sickness and another (at UMass, 3/1) because of a mild concussion. He matched his point total from the previous season with 32, good for fourth on team. He ranked fourth on team in both goals (14) and assists (18), and tied for third in power-play goals (5) and was one of two Terriers to notch a shorthanded goal.

Stay flu free this holiday season

The flu is nothing to sneeze at, so it's a good idea this flu season to protect yourself and your family by getting vaccinated.

"Everyone is encouraged to get vaccinated," says Jeanne Santoli, deputy director of immunization services at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), "especially those considered to be at higher risk. The best way to protect yourself and your loved ones is by getting your annual flu vaccine."

Flu Facts

Many Americans are not aware of the true dangers of the flu. On average, every year, influenza:

- Infects 60 million people
- Hospitalizes 200,000 people
- Kills more Americans than breast cancer
- Kills two to three times more Americans than HIV/AIDS.

The influenza activity report recently released by the CDC found that 92 percent of the pediatric deaths resulting from influenza were in children who weren't vaccinated. Each year, the influenza strains change, but fortunately, vaccinations against influenza are also updated each year to protect against the current strains.

Find Help

This holiday season, whether you want a flu vaccination for an elderly parent, a child or yourself, you can turn to a free online resource created by Maxim Health Systems, www.FindaFluShot.com/clinic. There, you can find the nearest flu clinic and the dates and times that vaccinations are available. You can also sign up to receive e-mail notifications reminding you to get your flu shot. The newly designed site is even accessible from mobile devices.

Further Steps

In addition, the CDC says you can reduce your risk of catching the flu by:

- Avoiding close contact with people who are sick
- Washing your hands often
- Avoiding touching your eyes, nose or mouth
- Getting plenty of sleep
- Being physically active
- Drinking plenty of fluids
- Eating nutritious food.

LeAnn Rimes urges psoriasis sufferers to stop hiding and start living

LeAnn Rimes, psoriasis sufferer and Grammy Award-winning performing artist, remembers that, at one point, she had psoriatic scales on about 80 percent of her body-pretty much everywhere except her hands, face and feet. Because her disease was so visible, LeAnn also recalls how for many years her self-esteem suffered because of her condition. But LeAnn isn't the only one who has experienced the physical and emotional impact of this disease.

Nearly seven million Americans suffer from psoriasis-yet the public is often unaware that psoriasis is a chronic immune disorder that affects the skin and can present physical, emotional or social challenges. In addition to the physical symptoms associated with psoriasis, people with the condition may experience poor self-image, social isolation or depression. And, recent research suggested that severe psoriasis may occur with other serious medical conditions, such as cardiovascular disease, obesity and diabetes.

Because there is so little public awareness about the impact of psoriasis, the American Academy of Dermatology and the National Psoriasis Foundation have partnered together, funded with support from Abbott, to launch a public education program called "Stop Hiding from Psoriasis." The effort is designed to raise awareness of psoriasis as a chronic disease that can have a dramatic impact on sufferers' lives, and to empower people living with psoriasis to Stop Hiding and Start Living by talking with a dermatologist.

LeAnn Rimes is working closely with the American Academy of Dermatology and the National Psoriasis Foundation on "Stop Hiding from Psoriasis." By speaking out about her battle against the disease, which has affected her for much of her life, LeAnn is putting a well-known face on a condition that has long been misunderstood.

For additional information on psoriasis and the "Stop Hiding

Dieting rebound and how to break through

The only thing harder than losing weight may be keeping it off. It's maddening, but weight-loss rebounds are ingrained in our evolutionary biology.

The good news is that there has finally been a breakthrough. A double-blind study recently showed that a proprietary blend of green tea, caffeine, cayenne and the amino acid L-Tyrosine can keep the body's metabolism humming for eight weeks after initial weight loss.

"The human body is built to survive environmental exposure and scarcity of food due to seasonal changes and nomadic moves from one place to another," says Greg Grochowski, chief science officer for one of the nation's most respected dietary supplement companies, ISI Brands, Inc.

"An initial weight loss signals the body to go into a conservation mode as if it were winter or enduring a food shortage. Fat is conserved to protect the internal organs until spring arrives-but today, we don't need that protection mechanism."

A new product called Break Through by MetaboLife(r) contains a unique, clinically tested, patent-pending formula on the market that addresses this rebound effect and is designed to support your diet and exercise to help you maintain your success.

Furniture from S-9

fact on comfort. The knees of the person sitting should fit comfortably over the edge of the chair. A tall person with long legs will need extra depth to avoid cramped knees doubling as a chin support.

• Height-Another important step is to search for a chair with a back that will fit each person accordingly. It is important that the space from the lower back all the way to the neck is fully supported for ultimate comfort.

To accomplish this support for taller people, look into chairs with a longer-length back. For example, "Atlas" and "Gavin" are two La-Z-Boy chairs that look similar yet cater to size differences. That means families can showcase the same style recliner in different scales.

For kids and those with a shorter stature, it is important to consider ease of climbing in and out of the chair. Look at chairs with smaller heights from the ground to the seat.

• Sofa Length-In addition to the depth and height of furniture, it is also convenient to have options in length for cuddling up or stretching out. Some are more comfortable with their legs closer to their body and do not need extra space to feel at ease, while other families with tall individuals may need to opt for an extra-long sofa.

Or, perhaps some family members like to stretch and spread out. For this scenario, look into a modular sofa with ottomans or a chaise. This way, you can create varied lengths at different parts, all in the same space.

Eudy suggests that consumers measure their current furniture and then go shopping armed with a measuring tape, ready to test several types of chairs. "Many times, consumers think of size in terms of how the furniture will fit into a room, but do not consider how they will fit into the furniture," says Eudy.

By investing in sofas with low arm height that also recline, families can accommodate feet that want to comfortably extend over the side if lying sideways, or out front when reclined. No matter what size, make sure to give sofas the "lie down" test so you fit comfortably in for a catnap.

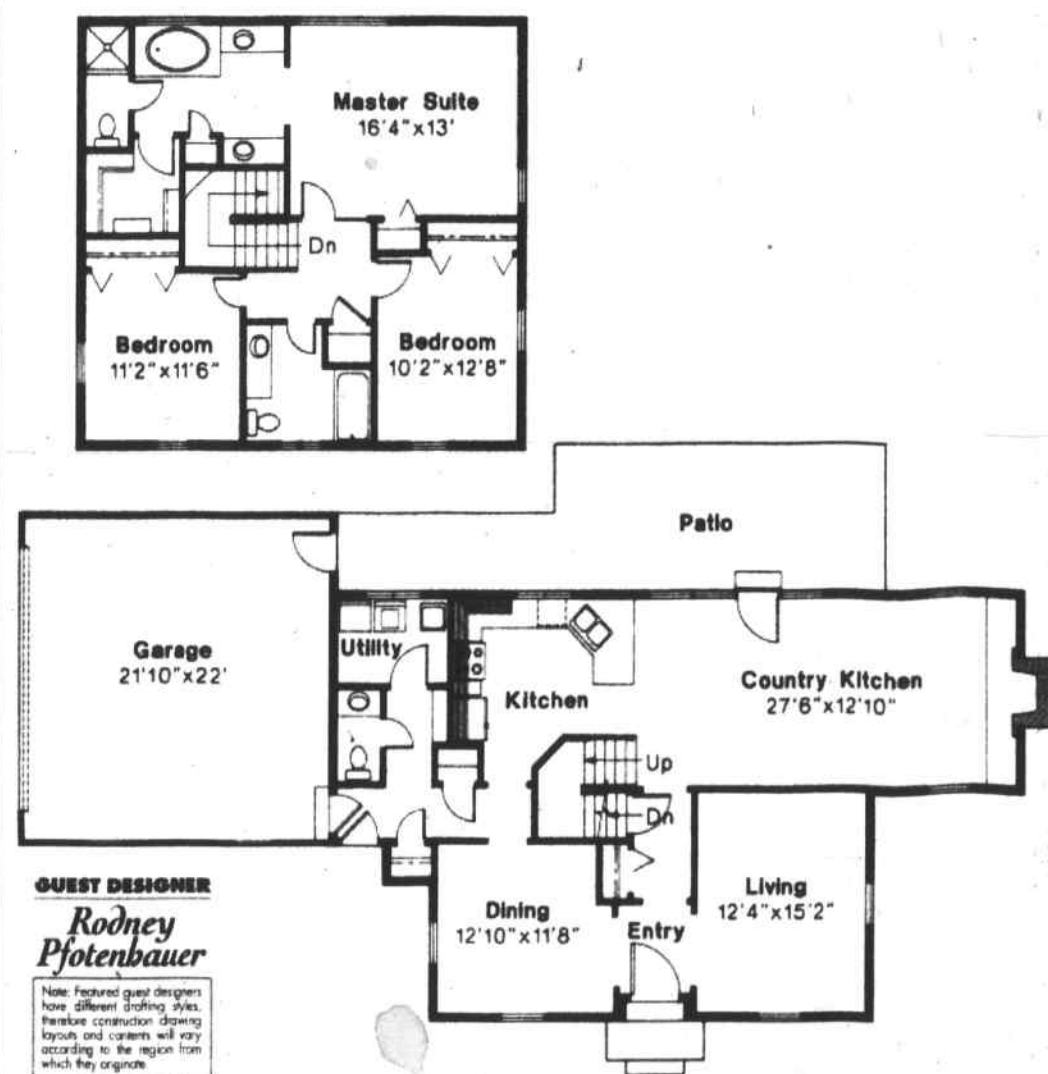

For more information about La-Z-Boy, consumers can visit www.lazboy.com.

Consumers should consider three things when choosing the best furniture for their individual comfort: seat depth, height and sofa length.

PHASE I - SOLD OUT
PHASE II - AVAILABLE

This week's sampler: The Maumee

Detailing unmistakably Colonial

It's easy to mistake the Maumee for a colonial home built way back before the Revolution. Guest designer Rod Pfothauer of Toledo, Ohio, included all the right details, including a symmetrical arrangement of small-paned windows, a side-gabled roof, and a paneled front door crowned by a triangular pediment.

Granted, the attached two-car garage is a contemporary modification. But shuttered windows and a lofty cupola help it blend well with the colonial theme.

Inside, the dining room and living room are right where you'd expect to find them -- to the right and left of the entry. A classic chair rail, with panel molding below, skirts the dining room. But the generously sized country kitchen, spanning most of the rear, is a '90s innovation.

The section devoted to food preparation is U-shaped, with counters and cupboards on three sides. One segment doubles as an eating bar. Storage capacity is augmented by a pantry with five shelves. Stairs to the basement and second floor are centrally located.

That leaves about two-thirds of the room free for comfortable furniture, a home entertainment center, a computer, shelves jumbled with books, games and videos --

Finding furniture that's designed to fit your family

-When furnishing a room, selecting "one size fits all" furniture can be a difficult task. It is important to consider personal preferences and personal comfort, including heights and sizes of family members.

According to Penny Eudy, director of upholstery merchandising at La-Z-Boy, there are several factors that consumers should keep in mind when making a furniture-purchasing decision, and one of them is body size.

She believes that with the furniture options available today, there is no need for a situation where shorter people's legs are struggling to reach the ground or where tall people feel stuffed into a short seat.

Consumers, says Eudy, should consider three things when choosing the best furniture for their individual comfort: seat depth, height and sofa length.

•Seat Depth-Depth of the chair is an overlooked factor and is often the key to comfort for people of different heights. The depth of the chair affects the overall sit and has a big im-

Tickets will be mailed in advance and will be required at the door. Also, the Reunion Committee is dedicated to raising funds that are put towards a Class of 1973 Scholarship to be given to a graduating Woburn Memorial High School Senior.

If you would like to make a donation to the Scholarship Fund, please send us separate checks for the dinner/dance reservations and the Scholarship Fund.

For more information or if you know of a classmate that has recently moved, please email Elaine McHugh at emm2212007@yahoo.com or call Michael Martini at 781-937-0509.

~ MONTHLY PROFILE ~

CALL 617-54-ADOPT - WWW.MAREINC.ORG

Once a month Middlesex East will publish a profile of a child that is looking for a home. If you can help please call or e-mail the MARE agency.

Meet Miesha

Miesha is a beautiful and outgoing five year old African American child who is talkative and enjoys being around adults and other children. Her favorite activity is taking gymnastics classes. She is very good at the sport and enjoys her classes. When asked about how she likes to spend her time, Miesha eagerly replied "I love to practice my gymnastics routine." She also likes playing outdoors in her sandbox and with her favorite toys.

Miesha interacts very well with the adults in her foster home and with her older foster brothers and two younger foster sisters. As a kindergartener, she's excited about school and is a good student. She is performing at grade level and makes friends easily. Although she has a medical condition that requires regular medical appointments, this does not get in the way of her living the "typical" life of a five year old.

Legally free for adoption, Miesha would do best with a two-parent family (mom and dad or two moms) or a single female, although other family constellations will be considered. The ideal family would provide Miesha with lots of love, structure and consistency and would help her maintain contact with her older sister. Miesha would like to find a family who will love her forever.

What is an Adoption Party?

Adoption Parties are casual events designed to give prospective and experienced adoptive parents, social workers, and children in foster care an opportunity to meet informally in person. Workshops provide prospective families the chance to network and learn from experienced adoptive parents. Family-friendly activities and entertainment offer children and prospective parents a fun, low-key way to interact. MARE hosts Adoption Parties four to six times per year throughout the state.

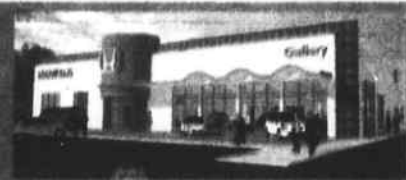

To learn more about Miesha, and about adoption from foster care, call the Massachusetts Adoption Resource Exchange (MARE) at 617-54-ADOPT (617-542-3678) or visit www.mareinc.org. The sooner you call, the sooner a waiting child will have "a permanent place to call HOME."
